It was a gorgeous spot as well. Very nice people with a lot of great dogs. I visited the small town of Veghel to go to the museum which is a small town but still had huge buildings like the guildhall. He visited the area which is really famous for waffles and they have them all over the area, he even tried one that I made him at supper. He loved it and claimed it as his favourite part of Friesland, which I guess it is. We... ... a good time, but the works of art in their various museums are free, and you can wander through some of the larger collections all day. You can see the most famous pieces at the Arnestraat. The larger museums, like the Nederlands Museum and Heemskerk's museum, also have a restaurant where you can eat if you want to, and buy a coffee as well, a real Dutch experience. We, rather, opted to continue the tour by taxi and stop for some chips and fries as well as souvenir. At the end of... ... Jack look good and you can barely see the snow where the ground should be. Back at the hotel-very quiet for the night. The elevator is still going up and down to prepare rooms for those coming in the morning. They arrived in the

I am using google app engine. How can i make this kind of help path in nodejs application. A: You will need to generate your own docs for app engine or use package:doc. This package helps you generate documentation for a project that supports code generation and templating. Here is a link to appengine docs for the package. Q: Django: urls.py with two routers I'm working on developing a simple website, and I'm doing it using a Django project. I'm kind of a Django newbie, so sorry for my stupidity. I have this. urls.py file: from django.contrib import admin from django.urls import path from future.urls import static from rest_framework.routers import DefaultRouter from rest_framework import viewsets from. import views app_name = 'cimedel' routers = DefaultRouter() routers.register('cimedel', views.CimedelViewSet) urlpatterns = [# Examples: # path('', views.dashboard.DashboardListView.as_view()), # Examples: # path('other-stuff/', views.other_stuff.other_stuff, name='other-stuff'), # path('', include('another.urls')) # path('^blog/', include('blog.urls')) # path('^static/', include('django.contrib.static.urls')) path('featured/', include(routers.featured, namespace='cimedel')),] urlpatterns += static(path('featured/', include(routers.featured, namespace='cimedel')), ('featured/', include(routers.featured)),) when I run the server, a Import
