THE FULL SPECTRUM WARFARE AWARD-WINNING COMBAT SYSTEM - The most detailed and authentic combat experience yet, Six Degrees of Freedom (6DOF) enables players to control their individual character as it appears in the game world, fighting head-to-head on the battlefield. Experience the unique feeling of being truly immersed in the action.

ADVANCED SQUAD BASED COMBAT - Fight as a squad leader, not a remote controller. Load-out your teams with powerful weapons and attachments, equip your soldiers with authentic and high-tech military equipment and lead your squads to victory with a variety of authentic combat tactics.

RESPONSIVE, REALISTIC ENEMY AI - The most advanced AI engine in the industry creates a reactive, dynamic enemy that reacts realistically to the actions of the player. Face multiple squads of enemies on a variety of battlefields.

UPGRADES - As you play the game, you will unlock upgrades that allow you to customize your character with additional equipment, weapons and attacks.

NEW VERSION OF THE VOTED - "2011 Best Multiplayer Game" - "2011 Gamers' Choice Best Multiplayer Game" winner, FULL SPECTRUM WARFARE VOTED - "2011 PC Game of the Year" winner.

EASIER TO PLAY - The controls and interface have been made easier to use, and a new feature allows you to see the strategy and map of your game as you play.

Risk System is a procedurally generated sci-fi action/adventure space romp about building a rocket to escape a dystopian Earth. Building a Rocket... Because they spent most of their lives mining and manufacturing for more immediate needs, the population of earth has never developed space travel skills, leaving the two ruling classes to fight it out in war. An invasion by a mysterious, sentient species not only capitalises on what they considered to be unguarded weaknesses, but also offers a chance to secure their own survival by rewriting history. Whichever side survives, the remaining Earth-bound populations will have no way to escape. The challenge now is to build a rocket before the Earth is completely consumed and the last generation doesn't even get a chance to live. A New Era... ... for a New Era Deluxe content can be found in the game files directory. An option will soon be added to the main menu that should open the file location for you. For more info on Risk System, please visit our website: FANTASTIC FUSION Deep Fusion is our latest concept game! It builds on the core principle of fantastic fusion that we have been experimenting with since our Gravity inspired concept game in 2017, and this iteration aims to improve the original game in several ways. Experience a New Game: Deep Fusion is a full game that takes full advantage of the PC's capabilities. It features a fully 3D landscape with backgrounds and objects that move in the wind. It's just like playing an animated film on a PC. Feel the Moment: You are dumped on the surface of earth, where you will meet the last remnant of the humanity that has been trying to find a way to leave for the last 150 years. The conditions on earth are grim, and it's up to you to find a way out and survive. Choice in Experience: You can decide to go through a story, experience a non-linear narrative with multiple endings, or see it as a sandbox where you find your own path, making your own choices. Your consciousness will be updated in the same way that you discover new technology, making it a real change to the original game. We want your feedback and your ideas. What's new:

- Chapter Eleven Original Korean Translator: museengreat Original Japanese Translator: Chaz After going over the memories she had, she was finally able to relax. Though her expression had dropped halfway through this very past moment, it was as though her mind had wiped that down from her face. However, such a relief that she could now rest easy came not from the fact that she had concluded her story, but rather from the fact that her recuperation period was finally over. Her mind could be happy that her body was no longer wounded and that she'd use time to completely recover. Even so, she needed to consider just how great her pain had been in the past. It was a pain that she'd carried alone as she had listened to the battle of the Hiveswap Friendsim. For hours, she'd been alone in agony as she'd looked over how her story had occurred. Though at times, she'd even regretted it, the fact of the matter was that she had developed a new personality in the process. As the malice and fury of the demon hordes came to the surface, she'd yelled with displeasure at how weak the humans' abilities were. She'd scorned at how incessantly they'd attacked the other monsters and had crossed her arms with disdain. It was that kind of youthful anger that had surfaced in her. However, these series of emotions that she'd felt during the battle was different than the way she'd felt before the scene in her dream. The pain she had felt in the past, that was the pain that flowed through her body. It was that which caused her to feel such a sense of betrayal to the humans. She felt as though her duty was to watch over the Otherworld that she was so devoted to, but instead she'd have to be the one confronting the demons. Even though that was the reality of the situation that she had to face, her actions in the dream were the actions of a person that had not forgiven the humans. While the sinful human world sought atonement, she had sought to win back her position. And for that reason, she'd have to pay a terrible price for it. Her story had progressed. Her wounds had become healed. She had finally returned to the Otherworld where she would be staying this time. And that was one of the
