Janky Tanks Game Review:

Janky Tanks is an old school artillery shooter game set in the Cold War in a generic Eastern European country. Your cute new girl is waiting for a kiss and actually is the boss of your gaming team. You fight with the Russian-made ICBM MIRV3. Your mission is to destroy the opposing tanks, but obviously you need to keep your precious girl safe at all times!

Janky Tanks Game Controls:

- Click on your mouse.
- Go to 'retard' mode for more accurate (and slower) movement.
- Go to the right to fire, and go to the left to go back. You can also go left with the Arrow keys.
- Use Shift or Ctrl (Noughts keys) to zoom in and out.
- Use 'JankyTankMode' for getting 2 extra lives.
- Health & ammo bar: Click on the real button, then go to 'retard' mode.
- If you accidentally shoot your girl, go to the left and try to kick her away to get your extra 'kitten' bar.

- Level style: you are on level 1 of 5. The rest are just sepia.
- Your girl will leave when you lose points.

Jack can be a sore loser, or a supportive friend. Grown-ups such as Mamma and Dad provide feedback to you in their daily conversations. Jack's parents, Kelly and Mark, are still around, and can sometimes annoy him or be supportive, depending on your decisions and actions. Want to be respectful, but not quite sure how? No problem. Jack comes with a "gentle nudge" feature that can subtly nudge you in the right direction. Jack can be immature, childish, or mature beyond his years. When he becomes a teenager, you can send him off to receive an education in one of eight subjects or choose an apprenticeship. Want to be a respectful and nurturing parent? Then it's best to be a nurturing parent. If you want to be a strict parent, then you can be a strict parent. Becoming the ideal parent takes time, and depending on your decisions and the actions of your "movable pawn" (Jack), you can have different outcomes. How many years did it take to write? This is the first in a series of two games about how the destiny of our civilization is shaped by our actions in the world. My earlier game, Phoenix Rising, is a post-apocalyptic setting where you must save the world with your child. About Me Hello! My name is Ekaterina, and I'm a Ukrainian indie game developer passionate about helping children become children by being as fun as possible in a way that doesn't involve teaching children to be children. I made these games to help my 6 year old daughter understand the point of her own life. One day, she asked me, "Why do I have to be a grownup? Why can't I be a kid like Mummy?" In this world, we are bombarded with messages trying to make children believe that adulthood is the best. Let's create the world where playing games is as fun as playing actual games. More about the games Our Personal Space is a sci-fi, post-apocalyptic story for parents and children about saving the world. Spark is a game about post-apocalyptic parenting where you must raise your daughter and ultimately save the world through her life. A certain man born into the country's highest class rises to power and takes the role of emperor. The people around him, from the nobles to the commoners, become devoted to the new emperor.

However, behind the tranquil exterior lies a soul of a man with a dark secret. He has a collection of beautiful young girls who were chosen as treasures by the people, and he holds them hostage. What kind of relationship does a corrupt emperor have with a bunch of kidnapped girls? -Features- First of all, this is a game about a man, with a significant focus on his personality and actions. The player plays as the emperor, who finds himself stuck in a world of power and corruption. Unlike other games where the protagonist has no ability to do anything and the gameplay mostly consists of fetch quests, The Sekimeiya places the player in a role as a powerful ruler with the ability to possess objects, transform into other characters, and manipulate the environment with powerful magic. This game is also a story-driven game. After choosing which girl the player wants to possess, you will receive various requests to complete. At the same time, various things will happen in the village, and you will receive more quests from the people around you. As you progress through the story, you will unlock new items and items which affect the surroundings, and you will be able to find new girls. Furthermore, if you possess a girl, she will make a request for you at the end of the game. The girl's request determines the ending of the game. -Game Mechanics- There are different types of quests. Some are easy, while others are much harder. In order to succeed, there is a need to develop a variety of skills. 1. Possess items- The game places emphasis on being able to utilize items for every step. There are a variety of items such as bombs,

What's new:

 Bag – A Legendary Battle Rigger! There's the usual quibble with the term 'battle rigger'. One that gets repeated is, "Battle Rigger is not an industry term". Everyone uses a battle rig, they're simply called primers, tanks, anti-tank missiles and fuel bladders. But the textbook definition of a 'battle rigger' is someone who works out designs for plastic weapon racks, multipurpose weapon and equipment mounts, compartments for electronic equipment, and coat hooks, tubular, and plastic grips, rifle sights, and hearing aids. In other words "Those weapons men collect during war". Battle rigs are the retail battle equipment for the skirmishers. I've owned one or two battle rigs and have been an ardent supporter of the FARS ammo can carrier since it started. I've practiced with one on multiple ranges, eventually went to bag of random steel trash, tossed the battle rig in it and tested it with random steel trash. My current battle rig doesn't wield its guns, but being the most enthusiastic reggiest around, took my battle rig to multiple ranges, steel trash, and weather. The battle rig did well, its job, with a few custom tweaks here and there. I've got a picture of the battle rig, with guns fired, on steel trash. You'll note it holds more ammo, including spare 9mm mags, than the FARS ammo can carrier does. After all that, I still had doubts. Then someone started posting pictures of 'battle rig' you find in this spot. Is it really a battle rig, the real deal? No, but it is a FARS battle ammo can carrier with a few hacks, custom handled, and non factory config. Is it a battle rig, the real deal, because its from 4089? I don't know, but it sure looks '90s. I tryed to play with that battle rig, I couldn't do it. For the uninitiated, "plinking" is the practice of setting a rifle to fire repeatedly, to practice. I would have to say it either isn't a battle rig, its a practice battle rig. But it will spar with another battle rig, I've seen that

Please make a suggestion in the steam community.The residents of Bangalore, India feel much positive about Google and other companies like it. 95 per cent of them agree that search engines like Google, Yahoo and Bing have contributed towards the development of the nation. The 'National Urban Survey 2014-15' was conducted by the Central Government and was announced last week. For this survey, 9,56,000 houses were randomly selected, from which 34,146 persons responded to the survey. So, the survey only examines about 0.4 per cent of the Bangalore population. A New Year of Search Surveys like this are very popular in Bangalore as the Bangaloreans have a lot of time to waste. Another reason for this high participation is that 'we' aren't that particular about the survey and our answers tend to come easily. The main reason to take this survey is that they want to know about how people like Google (or any company) to help 'develop' the country, though all they need to do is simply look at Google for that information. The questions for this survey are very basic, and no one is expected to have any understanding of how modern search engines work. For instance, the question is "Agree or disagree, Google makes it easier for you to discover relevant content on the web." How is Google Making Your Life Easier? At the same time, nearly 95 per cent of the residents of Bangalore agree. Nearly 96 per cent claim to be 'happy' about the fact that Google has made the lives of people 'easier'. That is because most of the people of Bangalore have heard of it, and thus agree. Interestingly, those who respond against Google like their city the least (only 7 per cent) claims that they see no change in their lives, and thus feel little or no effect from Google. Perhaps they are not using it much at all. Most of them say that they use Google for about 5-10 minutes a day, which is an utterly pathetic amount, in my opinion. If you need more in the day
