A: I posted this as a separate answer, in case it makes any sense, but: First, are you trying to use the ad-hoc filtering that can be done by the Data Tools Add-In? I'm not sure whether it will apply to 2010, but if it does, it might be a way of achieving what you want. Assuming it doesn't, the "Filtered Results" option might be what you're looking for: Filtered Results - Shows only the filtered results in the table. You can see this option in the "Columns" tab of the Add-In options dialog. If that doesn't seem to do what you want, I'd suggest looking at the code behind the Add-In (expand this line in the filterXML.Designer.cs file and you'll see the code that generates the list of objects that you're filtering). A: I get the same result, but after generating the XML filtering option, I can clearly see the XML tree, so you can put your own filtering to the XML: You can find more information about the generated XML here Of course, this code will produce the exact same result as the code in the first answer (you can change the XML string in the line `FilteredXML = String.Concat(FilteredXML, xmlString);`). Q: how to convert date formatted as dd/MM/yyyy to timestamp in php I am using the below code to convert date to timestamp but its giving error in php `$datefrom = "08/06/2017"; $adates = date('d/m/Y', strtotime($datefrom)); print_r($adates);` which is giving an error Warning: `date_format()` expects parameter 2 to be long, string given in C:\xampp\htdocs\index.php on line 41 A: You could just use `date` instead of `strtotime`. `$datefrom = "08/06/2017"; $adates = date('d/m/Y', strtotime($datefrom)); echo $adates;` Download Muhhabbat Khatir khaali tarhaayaa kya hai mp3 songs Start following Waka Flocka Flame on Twitter to get the latest news about
