Its a very strange domain name but thats all I have when it comes to the Ultimate House Beats Vol 4...Purification and molecular cloning of a novel androgen-dependent protein expressed during postnatal development of the chicken kidney. In the kidney of male chickens, an androgen-dependent protein (ADP) of molecular mass 52-54 kDa was detected on Western blots. In our study, we purified this protein by immunoaffinity chromatography, and characterized its primary structure. The deduced amino acid sequence revealed the ADP to contain 417 amino acids with a molecular mass of 46,168 Da. The sequence indicated that the ADP is identical to an inositol phosphatase, and the substrate specificity of the ADP for inositol 1,4,5-trisphosphate and inositol 1,4-bisphosphate was confirmed by reverse-phase HPLC/MS/MS. The expression level of the ADP was high in the kidney, testis and epididymis, and it increased with age in the kidney. When 11 beta-hydroxysteroid dehydrogenase activity was measured, the enzyme activity in the kidney was much higher in the prenatally androgenized broiler than that in the castrated male, while no significant difference was detected in the other tissues. The present results suggest that the expression of the ADP is up-regulated by the action of androgens in both the fetal and the postnatal development of the kidney, and that this protein may play an important role in the androgen action. TALLAHASSEE — Attorney General Pam Bondi is trying to strike a deal to keep her office from having to pay a $1.7 million fee to the Legal Services Trust Fund for taking representation of victims in child sex abuse cases, one of her top aides said Wednesday. But her talks with lawyers for the Trust Fund face a potential problem: A state ethics panel is considering whether a staffer who works at the attorney general's office needs to register as a lobbyist or not.
