Forty-nine patients with histologically proven adenocarcinoma of the colon were treated with adjuvant fluorouracil therapy (FFT) after primary resection of the tumor. Fifty-five percent of the patients were in a relatively early stage and received FFT immediately after surgery with curative aim. Nine patients were treated with full courses of FFT, two patients received 300 mg/m2 FFT and seven patients received 180 mg/m2 FFT. The median duration of treatment was 22.5 weeks (range 4 to 41). The median follow-up period was 31 months (range 9 to 75) after the end of FFT. Nine patients had relapsed, and four patients died of metastatic spread of the tumor. The survival rate was 55% and 40% at 36 months after diagnosis for those receiving and not receiving FFT, respectively. Also the cumulative 5-year survival rate was 47% for FFT and 40% for no FFT. None of the patients with stage III and IV disease developed recurrence or survived the disease. The treatment was well tolerated and the side effects were mild, indicating a good compliance to FFT. It is concluded that FFT is valuable in improving the survival rate of patients with colorectal adenocarcinoma.[Nutrients and immune status in children].
